Software Engineer @ HealthMyne

HealthMyne, a Madison, WI-based startup, is seeking highly motivated and bright individuals to join our exciting team to develop the next generation medical imaging software. As a core member of our fast-growing startup, you will have many opportunities working on various projects related to product development, and play an important role in developing a revolutionary product that will have a major impact on healthcare.

Minimum Required Skills:

- Strong knowledge of Object Oriented Programming, data structures, and algorithms
- High aptitude for programming
- Good knowledge of Java, C/C++
- Good knowledge of Windows, Linux, or Mac Operating Systems
- Good communication skills
- Can work effectively both in a team environment and individually
- Experience with software debugging

Additional Desired Expertise:

- Experience with software development process
- General knowledge of database technology
- General knowledge of version control systems
- General knowledge of network programming a plus

Additional requirements:

- Bachelor or Master’s degree
- Candidates must be authorized to work in the U.S.

Application deadline: April 30th, 2015

To Apply: Please send your resume along with the title of the position you are applying for to jobs@healthmyne.com